RELECTING A SUCCESSOR FOR HISCOCK Edward Murphy Will Undoubtedly Be the Man.

MAKING A CABINET FOR CLEVELIND

Rumor Has It That Don Dickinson Will Secretary of State and Harrity Postmaster General. New York, November 21.-Senator D.

B. Hill met a number of local democratic enders at the Hotel Normandie today. It is understood the principal subject discussed was the election of Edward Murphy, Jr., to succeed Senator Hiscock in the United States senate. Mr. Hackett was hard at work today straightening out the unpaid accounts of his late republican campaign committee. He said the committee owed less than $7,000, and every bill will be settled. President-elect Cleveland is expected to go out of town for a short rest in a day

Cabinet talk is still heard among the politicians. They say Mr. W. F. Marrity is booked for the postmaster generalship, and that Mr. Don. M. Dickinson will probably be made secretary of state, although h is said, he is not anxious for the office.

HE TALKED WITH CLEVELAND.

And Is Convinced That the Business Men of the Country Have Nothing to Fear. New York, November 21.—The World this morning prints an interview with H. F. Debardeleben, of Birmingham, Ala., who called upon Mr. Cleveland at the latter's request. Mr. Debardeleben is identified with a number of industrial enterprises

"I was very much gratified," said Mr. Debardeleben, "at the conservative tone of Mr. Cleveland's conversation. He said Mr. Carlisle's ...ustration represented his own view of coming down the tariff ladder one step at a time and asked a great many questions about the coal and iron deposits of the south, about the price of labor abroad, the rates of transportation, etc., showing an intelligent comprehension of the subject. I am convinced that the business interests of the country have nothing to fear from Mr. Cleveland's election."

FROM THE NATIONAL CAPITAL. Some Gossip About Politics and Prospective

Wachington, November 21. (Special.)
There is a promise of a very hard fight over the anti-option bill this session of congress. There is little doubt that a good majority in the senate feel bound to vote for the measure, but there is a strongly organized opposition full of re-sources. There are many long speeches sources. There are many long spectres against the bill prepared and it is hoped by those opposed to it that a policy of delay and obstruction may defeat the measure. The chances are that there will be enough amendments to the house bill to make it very difficult for an agree ment to be reached in view of the obstructions that will be thrown in the way.

eves in Repetling the Civil Service Law It is very significant that General Rosencrans, register of the treasury, the only democratic bureau chief in the government service, in his annual report to the secre-tary of the treasury, which will be made public in a few days, takes strong grounds public in a rew days, takes strong grounds against the civil service law, and recommends its repeal so far as its provisions apply to his department.

The exact language he uses cannot be precured, but in substance it declares that for the good of the service there should be an infusion of new blood which can only be obtained by the repeal of the civil serv-ice law permitting the discharge of old officials who have become barnacles upon the government and the substitution in their places of young and vigorous men who will bring to the service new interest, new ideas

General Rosencran, under whose superwhose supervision the report is being prepared, is very at the refore, be seen. While his recommendations regarding the civil service law in no wise commits the incoming administration nor can be taken in any way to foreshadow its policy, they nevertheless are interesting its policy, they nevertheless are interesting as the views of the only democratic bureau officer now in the government service, and of an official of long experience who has agree been known as an intense partisan.

TWO GOOD POSTOF I ES-

Charleston, S. C., and Vickaburg Offices Have No Regularly Appointed Postmasters. Washington, November 21.—There are only two positions, as postmasters, now vacant in large cities, viz., Charleston, S. C., and Vicksburg, Miss. In the former C. and Vicksburg, Miss. In the former office A. H. Mowry, democrat, appointed during the Cleveland administration, is acting postmaster. He was appointed in March, 1887, and his commission expired in December last. Dr. Crum, a colored man, was then nominated to succeed Mowry but the nomination was subsequently withdrawn. It is more than probable that no appointment will be made and that the president will permit Mr. Mowry, who has conducted the office in a highly satisfactory manner, office in a highly satisfactory manner,

AFRAID OF ADLAI'S AX-

AFRAID OF ADLA'S AX.

The President Is Desirous of Extending the Protection of the Civil Service Law.

Washington, November 21.—President Harrison, several cabinet officers and the civil service commissioners are discussing the advisability of extending the provisions of the civil service law so as to put within the classfied service many people not now within its protecting scope. By special order of the president chiefs of divisions in the several departments have up to this time been exempted from its operation. Various subtreasurers too, are now without its scope. These matters have been discussed quietly for some time and there is seneral concensus of opinion in departmental arcles that they too should be put into the civil service. This can be done by order of the president. He, it is said, has been considering this extension for some time and was only prevented from ordering it before the election by the sad circumstances with which he was surrounded for the previous six months. Among many democrats here the proposition meets with little favor. They feel that the people want change in offices and have said so, and if the civil service is extended now, after the verdict of the election, a sentiment will be created that will wipe the whole law from the statute books.

Several Important Decisions by the United States Supreme Court.

Washington, November 21.—The United States supreme court today, in the case of Charles E. Cooke, appellant, from the decision of the United States court for the eastern district of Wisconsin, rendered an interesting decision as to the power of United States courts to interfere in state offenses. Cooke was charged with the violation of a statute of Wisconsin by receiving a deposit, knowing his bank was insolvent. When the deposit was received by Cashier Cooke's bank, Cooke was in the state of Wisconsin, but took a train for Chicago before the deposit was actually entered up. He was arrested in Chicago on a requisition issued by the governor of Wisconsin, and a writ of habeas corpus was sued out in the state court, but the court discharged the writ and delivered the prisoner to an agent of the state of Wisconsin, to be taken back for trial. Pending his trial he made application to the circuit court of the United States, claiming that he was not a fugitive from justice, within the meaning of the constitution and laws of the United States. The United States court dismissed this writ and an appeal was taken to the supreme court from the decision. Mr. Justice Brown affirmed the position previously held by the supreme court that where a person is in custody under process from a state court the original jurisdiction for an alleged offense against the laws of the state and it is claimed that he is restrained of liberty in violation of the constitution of the United States, the circuit court of the United States, the circuit court of the United States has discretion, whether or not it will discharge defendant under a writ of habeas corpus was affirmed.

A Cable Decision.

There was a cable relirond decision in the United States supreme court, today which will probably set at rest disputed questions as to the laying of roadbeds for grip cars. The original suit was brought in the circuit court for the southern district of New York by Henry Root against the Third Avenue Railroad Company. The plaintiff alleged priority of invention in the method of laying cable railroad tracks in substratum of concrete so as to soldify the whole into a rigid structure. He claimed that previous to his invention all cables had been constructed of iron ribs, in the form of tubes, and the spaces between the ribs filled in with wood. The fact of priority of invention was virtually not put in dispute, but it was alleged the invention had been in practical use in the city of San Francisco for more than two years before the plaintiff applied for his patent. Justice Blatchford held that the evidence substantiated this fact and, therefore, Root was not entitled to a patent, and his bill was dismissed.

Baltimore, November 21.—United States
Judge Bond signed an order today authorizing Walter G. Oakman receiver of Richmond and West Point Terminal Company to institute proceedings to secure the cancelation of the contract by which the Terminal company purchased $12,000,000 of the capital stock and$3,553,000 of collateral trust bonds of the Georgia company. Mr. Oakman is authorized to sue to recover the money the Terminal company is alleged to have lost in the transaction. The order is similar to one previously passed in New York. The stock and bonds in question have been deposited with the Central Trust Company, of New York, as part security for the issue of $11,500,000 5 per cent bonds by the Terminal company. The petition alleged that the Terminal company but that at the time of the purchase they were worth only half that sum. A very general idea among the delegates is that the fron men will have to adopt some form of secret organization.

have to adopt some form of secret organization.

A lively dispute took place over a proposition to strike out of the order's platform the demand for a graduated income tax, some of the delegates favoring an inheritance tax. The subject was under discussion when recess was taken.

At today's session of the Knights of Labor convention officers were chosen as follows: general master workman, T. V. Powderly; secretary and treasurer, J. W. Hayes; general worthy foreman, High Cavanaugh; executive board, T. V. Powderly, John Davis, T. B. McGuire and A. W. Wright. Previous to adjournment, the convention adopted a resolution on the Homestead strike recited that it was the sense of the Knights of Labor that the outcome of the struggle was deplorable, but it has been of far reaching result in settling economic questions and the resolution ordered that the gentral executive board be instructed to issue an appeal for aid for needy strikers.

AWAITED WITH MUCH CONCERN. Full Details of the Archbishops' Meeting in Baltimore, November 21.—Full developments of the meeting of the Catholic arch bishops in New York last week are anxiously awaited here, where there are matters of much concern and conjecture in Catholio circles. The arrival at home of Cardinal Gibbons has given a new impetus to the discussion of what decisions may have been reached at the New York conference. Friends of Archbishop Ireland believe the dawn of a new era in the history of the Catholic church in the United States is at dawn of a new era in me history of the Catholic church in the United States is at hand am already they see the daylight of liberalism in education breaking over the tops of the hills of ultra-religious objection. Authority for this belief is the report of the prelates—a short, seemingly "nothing-in-it" statement, which, however, when examined closely, considered carefully and read between the lines, is said to be one of the most important pronouncements ever made by hierarchary of the Catholic church in America.

This is all the more remarkable when the decided opposition of a number of archbishops to the school plan of Archbishop Ireland is considered. There were those among the prelates and their suffragans who had declared themselves unequivocally for the parochial school system.

Lacre were priests who favored prohibition against Catholic children attending public schools under the pain of ecclesiastical censure—in short, for compulsory attendance at Catholic schools. These clergymen had expressed their opinions from the chancel and in some parts of the country made little, if any, provision for the religious education of children attending public schools.

Their views were known to the archbishops and were discriminately opposed to the policy marked out by Archbishop Ireland in the conduct of educational methods in his archdiocese. He gave the Faribault system existence, and against the hue and cry of opposition from this country and in Rome, where the strongest sort of influences were brought to bear to have his theories condemned, the pope indorsed the archbishop's acamen and Catholicity by allowing the Faribault plan to be tolerned. This meant that the pope, affer receiving Cardinal Gibbons's indorsement of Archbishop Ireland's ideas, had abiding faith in that prelate's ability to take care of his own affairs. The news was bitter in some quarters, but there was nothing left but to acknowledge that the liberalists had carried their point.

Paris, November 21.—There has been a scene of wild excitement, today, in the chamber of deputies. Jules Delnhaye, Boulangist deputy from Chinon, raised the question of the Panama canal prosecutions. He denounced the government in the severest terms, stating that the authorities had wholly neglected their duty and had permitted the gravest and most collossal crimes to go inpunished. He demanded that justice be done speedily and that men of influence and wealth, accumulated by gigantic frands, be brought to exposure and punishment.

There was a clamorous scene while Delahaye was speaking, some applauding and others denouncing his utterances. Angry recriminations followed, and the deputies charged each other in express terms with a desire to protect the gullty. Clinbing the Bostrum. A dozen deputies rose in an excited manner to ask whom he meant. The sion. Members shook their fists in each other's faces, and several tried to climb the tri-bune at once. The president rapped for order but Lobody seemed to heed. The melce was more general and disgraceful than any witnessed in the chamber during the present republic. Deputies called each other thieves, and followed the insulting words with challenges to the death. No less than three challenges were given for duels.

It was useless for the government to oppose the onset, and so the ministry yielded by consenting to the appointment of a parliamentary commission to inquire into the charges of corruption in connection with the Panama canal, and especially the charges affecting public officials, members of the chamber, and others connected with the public service. row, and will begin the inquiry forthwith.

France : Il Be -hown. It is rumored that gigantic scandals will be unearthed, and that other spicides may be looked for besides that of Jaron de Reinach, who was one of the men deeply involved in the alleged scandals. The baron left an immense fortune of about 300,000,000 francs, much of it accumulated in connection with the Panama enterprise.

There is great excitement in Paris, and the scene in the chamber of deputies and the Panama inquiry are the leading subjects of discussion everywhere. The police are said to be keeping quiet surveillance over several wealthy men mentioned in connection with the Panama frands, and who are suspected of a design to leave France in order to escape

BANKRUPT SPAIN

Succeeds in Getting Another Loan from the Bank of Pasis.

Paris, November 21.—The Banque de Paris et de pay bas has advanced to the Spanish government 25,100,000 francs, making in all 75,000,000 francs advanced by the bank. The bank made a condition of the loan that the cortes should meet of the loan that the cortes should meet at the beginning of December and author-ize the government to raise a large loan, part of which shall be used to repay the bank. The Spanish opposition pro-poses to compel a full discussion of the financial embarrassment. Should the pas-sage of the loan be delayed, it may end in a suspension of the payment of interest sage of the toan be delayed, it may end in a suspension of the payment of interest on the national debt, the Rothschilds having already declined to advance more money. It is estimated that 4,000,000,-000, francs in in Spanish securities are held in France. Spanish bankruptcy, coming on top of the collapse of the Pan-American Company, would be a blow to France.

German Socialists.

Berlin, November 21.—There was a sensation in the socialist conference today when it was announced that Herr Vollmar had received only lifteen votes for member of the official board of the social democratic party. Herr Bebel and Herr Singer were elected presidents, Herr Auer and Herr Fischer, secretaries, and Herr Gerisch, treasurer, and the following were elected supervisors: Kaden, of Dresden; Meisler, of Hanover; Ewald, of Brandenburg; Dubber, of Hamburg, and Jacoby and Schultz, of Berlin. Not a single south German is in the list, a circumstance which cannot fail, in the opinion of leading socialists, to excite fresh quarrels between two sections. Herr Vollmar and his friends were evidently deeply disappointed. The next conference will be held at Cologne.

PROFESSOR SMITH'S TRIAL

A Test Vote to Be Taken on the Heres

Charges Today. Cincinnati, O., November 21.—The trial of Professor Henry Preserved Smith for alleged heresy was continued today. Professor Smith resumed his argument on the charge and claimed that the prosecution had failed to answer his objections, and, therefore, they should be sustained. He held that Dr. McKibben and Rev. Mr. Lowe did not entirely agree as to the confessional view of inspiration and he protested against being judged by their personal views. He did not want to be acquitted through a technicality nor condemned through irregularity, and asserted that the committee did him an injury by not quoting more fully from his pamphlet.

After some discussion Professor Ford moved that the objections of Professor Smith to the first clause be sustained and that the charge be dismissed. A vote on this motion will probably be reached tomorrow and will be the first really test vote of the trial. Lowe did not entirely agree as to the con-

Street Shooting in Americus. Americus, Ga., November 2..—(Special.)—Much excitement was caused by a shooting scrape this afternoon on the streets, in w... home Jackson, colored, hos Rance Harris, his brother-in-law, about the former's wife. Jackson fired three shots, one of which struck Harris in the thigh and another in the left lung just below the heart inflicing a dangerous and probably fatal wound. The shooting took place in a dense crowd and the shot that missed Harris came very near striking Mr. R. J. Perry, a prominent citizen. Jackson was locked up.

Zimmerman and Sanger to Race. Milwaukee, November 21.—Zimmerman and Sanger, the well-known bicyclists, have been matched for a race for $10,000. Zimmerman's deposit of $500 was today covered by Sanger, and this virtually insures the race. The distance will probably be one mile. The date and other details remain to be settled.

Election Officers Arrested.

Little Rock, Ark., November 21.—Twelve indictments have been returned by the federal grand jury against state election officers for violation of election laws on November Sth. The first arrest was made in Loroke county today, when the election commissioners of that county were ordered to appear before Judge Williams. The mea to appear before Judge Williams. The men arrested are: R. H. Griffin, P. H. Wheat, Jr., and B. I. Everton. Griffin and Wheat are Democrats and Everton is a re-putation. The prisoners pleaded not guilty and their trial was set for December 27th.

Pittsburg, Penn., November 21.—In the Critchlow trial today the prosecution closed the case and the defense occupied the balance of the day in endeavoring to prove an alibi, the evidence in that direction being strong. The opinion is that Critchow will be acquitted. The case will probably go to the jury tomorrow.

A Statement Denied

Washington, November 21.—The statement printed in The San Francisco Examiner, to the effect that the state department had been for six weeks in correspondence with the Hawaiian minister, on the subject of annexing the Hawaiian islands to the United States, was denied by Secretary of State Foster today.

Reward Offered for Lynchers.

Raleigh. N. C., November 21.—Governor Holt has offered a reward for members of the mob who lynched William Burnett colored, at Oxford, on the 14th instant. Burnett was charged with attempted rape. The lynching was generally condemned, a mass meeting being held and the resolutions adopted sent to the governor to that effect.

Great Britain's Delegater London, November 21.—The names chosen by the chancellor of the exchequer, to represent Great Britain at the approaching monetary conference are Sir William H. The message leans towards anti-promition, though the governor makes no defite recommendations on this big prospetive fight.

CLEVELAND COMES SOUTH.

He Will Hide from the Office Seekers in the Blue Ridge Mountains.

Blue Fidge Mountains.

New York, November 21.—It is stated tonight and generally believed that the place selected by President-elect Cleveland at which to spend the brief vacation which he has planned to take, is New Berne, N. C. The place is an ideal winter home situated in the heart of the Blue Ridge mountains and sufficiently inaccessible to daunt the spirit of the most persistent slatemaker or office seeker. Mr. Cleveland's sole object in leaving New York is to get a much needed rest and avoid the legion of callers who adopt every known expedient to get by his butler. Mr. Cleveland will probably leave for North Carolina either Wednesday or Thursday. He received today at his residence ex-Secretary of State Bayard, ex-Mayor Carter, of Chicago, and Mr. De Bardelleben, of Birmingham, Ala. These three gentlemen called on Mr. Cleveland at his own invitation and presumably the visit was of political significance.

MISS LOWE'S COTILLION LAST NIGHT

Other Entertainments in Honor of Fair Visitors-Comings and Goings of Atlantians and Their Friends-

Miss Lowe's cotilion last evening opened formally and brilliantly a week of galety that will be unrivaled in the social annals of Atanta. The cotilion, in honor of Miss will be unrivaled in the social annals of Atanta. The cotillion, in honor of Miss Lowe's lovely guests, was a perfectly charming one. There were plenty of men to give the dance that spirit and interest which it always must have to be a success, and it was most gracefully led by Mr. Frank Orme, who introduced many new and artistic figures. The favor table was as bright and coquettish as a Frenchwoman, and among the airy nothings of ribbon and paper bonbon bows there were a number of exquisite and costly favors. The supper, which was elaborate and delicious, was served in the white and green ballroom upon little teta-a-tate tables, placed for the purpose in pretty retreats, cosy with cushions and radient with flowers.

Miss Lowe was radiantly lovely in a gown of Miss Lowe was radiantly lovely in a gown of green satin, which harmonized exquisitely with the delicate green and white of her surroundings, making her, in very truth, the ruling goddess of the place:

Miss Harrison was enchanting in a quaintly fashioned gown of yellow satin, with big sleeves and trimmings of violet velvet almost as soft and exquisite as her eyes.

Miss Lemon wore a gown designed for her in Vienna—that city so noted for its magnificent fabrics. The material was a heavy paleblue moire antique, shot with amber lights; and the trimming was of amber laghts; and the trimming was of amber lace and velvet. The gown was made Empire, with two deep folds of lace upon the short-waisted, and its effect, as its graced its queenly wearer, was indescribably beautiful and pic-

The ballroom looked lovlier, if possible, than upon last Thursday evening.

The arrangement of palms and roses above the stairway and in the deep windows was charming, and the scene and the evening will never be forgotten by those present.

Miss Harrison and her brother, Mr. Preston Harrison, leave for Chicago this morning. Their going and the departure of Mr. Sully will break up the very jolly house party at Mrs. Lowe's. Mr. Harrison is a son of ex-Mayor Carter Harrison, of Chicago, and is business manager of his father's paper, The Chicago Times. He is personally and extremely handsome and charming, a man cultivated and captivating socially, and the visit of him-self and the son of Aifred Sully, of New York, has caused quite a little ripple of un-usual excitement in Atlanta society. Mr. Sully is tall and distingue, and extremely at-

There is no end of regretfulness over the departure of Miss Sophy Harrison, for she is a young girl, who wins, without an effort, the most ardent admiration. She is unusually beautiful, and she has that indifferent, easy sort of grace which makes a woman adorable.

Mr. Gordon Kiser gave Miss Lowe and her guests an elegant luncheon at the Aragon yesterday. The service, decorations and menu were perfect, and the guests were Miss Har-rison, of Chicago; Miss Lemon, of St. Joseph; Miss Lowe, Mr. Preston Harrison, of Chicago; Mr. Sully, of New York; Mr. Tom Felder and

The chain is very simple, generally consisting of tiny gold links, the pendant may be either very simple or very elaborate as the taste of the purchaser suggests, but it is principally on it that the skill of the goldsmith is lavished.

The greater number of pendants shown are of the popular heart shape. There are hearts of plain gold, hearts decorated with the beautiful roccocco work, hearts enameled and jeweled.

One of the prettiest heart pendants has a star surrounded by scroll work. The star has a single pearl for the center with diamond rays.

A plain gold heart has a crescent of pearls and a diamond star. This is a very appropriate emblem of the Christmastide when all the world looks back to the star that shone over Bethlehem.

charge than that of burglary, for which he was sent to jail.

He might have been tried for murder. Connected with the charge of burglary against Evans are some facts that are not generally known. Evans was arrested by the Atlatna police June 7th last for burglary. The facts leading to his arrest are about these. A few nights before his arrest some one went to the home of an old negro, named Bob Henderson, who lived alone, and who was known to have saved some money and, calling him out, beat him within an inch of his life with a hammer. Two or three days the old negro was unconscious. When he recovered he named Tom Eyans as his assailant. Evans was arrested and sent to jail as stated above. Henderson never recovered from his wounds. He was sent to the county poorhouse, where he shortly died. It is now said that his death was due to the blows given him by Evans.

Evans was buried yesterday.

LOST HIS MIND.

A Well-Known Young Macon Physician Attacks His Pather.

AND TRIES TO TAKE HIS LIFE

A Big Sensation in the Central City-Failure of a Well-Known Firm-Notes and News of a Day.

Macon, Ga., November 21.—(Special.)— The assignment of the firm of Price & Maas, one of the best known wholesale grocery houses in the city and in central Georgia, was the topic of the day in commercial circles.
Papers were filed this morning and while it was known late on Saturday evening that an assignment was probable, nothing was made a matter of record until this

Mr. R. M. Smith, who has been connected Mr. R. M. Smith, who has been connected with the firm for some time, is the assignee, and the preferred creditors are Mrs. E. Price $1,000 and interest, E. R. Price $600, Mayer & Watts $400, R. M. Smith $3,155, T. J. Carling $5,070, S. R. Jacques and Tinsley $362.61, Georgia Mills and Elevator Company $382.17, George S. Jones $403.88, Johnson & Harris $1,278.05, Dessan Bartlett $1,000, Danenberg Company $151.17, S. Seisel, endorser, $2,500, Sam Mayer endorser $6,000, E. R. Price endorser $3,000, M. Waterman endorser $1,000, Jackson Canning Company $249.30, H. R. Brown $70, H.

Company $249.30, H. R. Brown $70, H. L. Jewett $47.50, J. F. Register, Cochran, $4, 0; Gravely Miller Danville $202.30, W. Duke Sons & Co. $167.

The assets will amount to about $75,000 and the debts of the firm to about the same amount.

The firm of Price & Maas has always been looked upon as one of the most sound in the city and their assignment is attributed solely to the difficulty in making collections among the class of customers, mostly farmers, with whom the firm has traded. The individual members of the firm, Messrs. George C. Price and Addie Maas, are among the most popular young men in the city. Mr. George C. Price is closely identified with everything that will promote the interests of the city and is one of the most generous and charitable of her citizens.

Lee firm has secured by preference all the home creditors and the endorsers for the firm, and it is thought that they will pay dollar for dollar of their indebtedness.

Young Doctor Worsham Insane. Dr. W. E. Worsham, son of the county physician and himself a practicing physi-cian in Macon, became suddenly insane this afternoon and tried to kill his father.

afternoon and tried to kill his father.

Dr. Worsham, Sr., lives in Vineville and his son has rooms at the same house. This afternoon, while his father was at the county hospital making his regular rounds, a messenger arrived with the startling intelligence that his son was unmanageable and threatened to kill any one who came near him. Dr. Worsham returned home at near him. Dr. Worsham returned home at once and went to his son's room. As soon as the young man saw his father, he cursed him horribly, and finding he could do nothing the old man left. The son then turned on his mother and became so violent that her screams brought the father once more upon the scene. The sight of his father seemed to drive young Worsham into a paroxysm and seizing a razor from the paroxysm and seizing a razor from the bureau he made a rush, foaming at the mouth and screaming. With presence of mind and decision, Dr. Worsham picked up a hammer that lay at hand and knocked the young man down. he blow inflicted a somewhat scrious wound, but gave time to call in help. Dr. Worsham at once came to the city and swore out a writ of imacy against his son. Sheriff Westcott and Deputy Herringson brought the young man in to jail and locked him up until the trial tomorrow.

Thanksgiving Day.

Thanksgiving day will be celebrated in Macon with the usual quiet enjoyment peculiar to the city.

Among the attractions of the day and one that will prevent some of the sportsmen from taking the field with dog and gun, will be the bicycle tournament at the park. Jack Prince, the world famous wheel-man, is here and will give an exhibition of his speeding powers on the mile track. He has challenged the fastest horse in the city to a ten-mile race and offers besides some very handsome medals to the amateurs of Bicycling has grown in popular favor very considerably within the last few months and it is presumed that the tournment on Thursday will be well attended.

The new Masonic logde, the Mabel, will celebrate their anniversary on Thanksgiving night and a banquet will be given for which invitations have been issued to prominent men in the city.

The Boy Murderer.

On Tuesday next, November 29th, the execution of Willie Bell, the boy murderer, will take place in the yard of the Bibb county jail.

Bell is something over fourteen years of age. The crime for which he is to hang was cold blooded murder and the verdict of the jury was quickly reached, though Bell was defended by the most able cirminal lawyers in the city, led by Messrs. Dessau & Bartlett. under appointment of the court.

The case was appealed but the supreme court declined to take any steps in the matter and the youthful criminal was resentenced.

Since his arrest Bell has not shown that he realized his crime or the short time he has to live. He has been a terror to the prisoners in the jail, and the only sign of any desire to save his own life has been that at times he pretends to be crazy, but is unable to keep it up.

The execution will be absolutely private. No newspaper man will be admitted and the gallows will be boarded up inside the yard so as to admit only the sheriff, his assistants, a minister of the gospel and near relatives of the condemned.

The Public Library.

Again the Macon public library is in danger of being closed on account of a lack of funds and interest.

This is a most remarkable thing that this great and useful institution should have fallen into such a condition that scarcely a quarter of a year passes but a subscription list is passed around.

The real trouble is that while only a comparatively small amount of money is needed to set the library on its feet, the directors of the library who have taken the responsibility of conducting its affairs upon their shoulders, do not use sufficient energy in their efforts to raise the amount at any one time.

At present, for instance, a call is made for $1,000. This is all that is necessary and after this has been paid to the creditors the library will, under proper management, be self-sustaining. But the danger is that the directors will, after they have raised one quarter of this amount, stop and having stayed the clamor of the creditors for the time being, will wait until necessity drives them out a begging once more.

All this weakens the library. The directors have accepted the trust, let them dotheir utmost and not be content with half measures and half management.

Annual Bath.

Central City lodge No. 8, I. A. of M.; is making great preparation for its second annual ball to be given at the Volunteers armory on Wednesday, November 23d.

There will be a special meeting of the bondholders of the Georgia Southern Wednesday at the office of Dr. J. S. Baxter, over Central City bank.

Mr. Thomas B. Gresham, of Baltimore, a member of the bondholders committee, will be present at this meeting for the purpose of making a statement.

Judge Kibbee held a master's court this morning for the adjudication of Georgia Southern and Florida cases. He disposed of a few claims of minor importance.
The grand jury was this morning occupled in hearing evidence in the case of Lee Dans, the white junk dealer, who, it will be remembered, is accused of receiving stolen goods, belonging to the railroads, in very large quantities.

THE DAY IN ROME.

An Excursion from Sand Mountain—Work on the Waterworks System. Rome, Ga., November 21.—(Special.)— The business men of Rome have arranged for an excursion for the merchants of Sand mountain and the Tennessee valley to this city. A special train will start from Guntersville, on the East Tennessee river in Alabama, on the morning of Novembe 30th. The train will be under the management of Captain A. J. Little of Rome. It will reach Rome at 11 o'clock a. m. of that day.

It is expected that 100 business men of north Alabama will come. They will be driven over the city during the afternoon and at night they will be tendered a great banquet at the Armstrong house.

Dr. J. S. Lawrence, president of the Rome Electric street railway, is in Rome from Washington, and will spend several days here. The electric line has been hung up for several months owing to a misunderstanding in the contract between the Rome Street Hailroad Company and the Thompson-Houston Electric Company. It is now announced that Dr. Lawrence has arranged with another electric company and that the with another electric company and that the work which was suspended early in Sep-tember, will be at once resumed on the power house.

The contract has been closed for the construction of the two great basins for Rome's new waterworks plant. These basins will be located on the top of Fort Jackson hill and will afford sufficient pressure to throw water fifty feet above the high-est building in Rome.

ure to throw water fifty feet above the highest building in Rome.

The marriage of Dr. Will Johnson, one of Rome's leading young physicians, and Miss Annie Freeman, will occur at the home of the young lady near Rome, Wednesday at high noon. The ceremony will be performed by Father M. J. Clifford of the Catholic church.

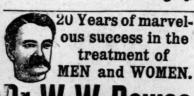

Cards are out for the marriage of Miss Pearl McWilliams of this city and Mr. C. Douglass Smith, of Wetumpka, Ala., on November 30th. The marriage will occur at the First Baptist church and will be followed by an elegant reception at the home of Mr. O. H. McWilliams, the bride's father, in East Rome. This marriage promises to be quite an important affair. Miss McWilliams is one of Rome's most popular young ladies and belongs to one of the wealthiest families in north Georgia.

It Will Not Down.

"The silver question," remarks The New York Herald, "is like the ghost of Banquo, which would not 'down' at Macbeth's bidding." The Herald utters a truth here the profundity of which it evidently fails to comprehend, for it goes on to argue that, after the Sherman law is repealed, the silver question should be left to settle itself.

But this is precisely what it will not do. Both parties have practically ignored it in their platforms, but it will not be ignored. It has no regard for the repose of political organizations, and it will continue to vex all parties until it is disposed of in accordance with the decrees of justice and common sense. It is surprising, indeed, that The Herald, which is admittedly a great newspaper, should have editorial views so nar row that it can see only one side of this great question. In the very act of chronicling the importance of the issue, The Herald tries to dismiss it with a whiff of the editorial breath. It says the question would not "down" at the bidding of parties. Will it down at the bidding of newspapers, or even at the bidding of con-

Nothing is less likely. We may be very sure that a question which the great leaders cannot dispose of by ignoring itwhich the great parties cannot smotherwill not vanish at the behests of those who chance to hold positions of responsibility. Did it ever occur to The Herald that a question which party leaders cannot ignore must possess the prime ele-ment of importance? If it were merely a fad-a delusion-it would not survive the measures of suppression that have been applied to it.

Under these circumstances, would it not be well for those who desire to ignore the question to earn a degree of repose by facing the situation fairly and squarely and agreeing to a settlement that will take the whole matter out of partisan polities? It is useless to talk about a repeal of the Sherman law as if that event were a patent and sovereign method of giving the silver question its death-stroke. The repeal of that ridiculous and dangerous act will not repeal its results. Wipe it from the statute books, and the silver question becomes more important than ever. Those who have charge of affairs cannot escape their responsibility in the matter by agreeing to ignore it.

It is queer that such chroniclers of public opinion as The Herald cannot get the facts into their minds that the silver ques tion is prominent because the people have made it so; that it is important because the people have made it important. It is queer, too, that they do not perceive that the attempt to repeal the Sherman law will reopen the whole question, and that it will at once become the most important question before congress or the people.

It seems to us that at this stage of the game such newspapers as The Herald. even if they are unable to view the issue in its entirety, would understand that the Sherman law, ineffective as it is, cannot be repealed until the monometallists are in the humor to descend from their high horse and engage in compromise legislation. Such is the fact. nevertheless, and when the matter comes up and gets under headway, we shall have the pleasure of calling the attention of our metropolitan contemporary to some of the accompanying developments, and it will then agree with us that the silver issue is indeed an issue that will not down.

An Old Story.

And so the strike at Homestead is off! It is the old story. Two weeks ago there was a big strike in New Orleans, but it collapsed.

We believe that the working millions of this republic have their grievances, and if there is a way to redress them we are going to do our level best to have the proper remedy applied to the evil. The democratic party has been the party of the people from the time of Jefferson. and we have the firmest confidence in its ability, under the coming administration, to satisfactorily solve many of our gravest problems. In the recent national contest plutocracy was defeated by democracy. Henceforth there will be no more class legislation, no more favoritism. no more profligate squandering of the people's money. Our burdens are going to be lighter. Taxation will be placed upon a just basis. Our commerce will be un-fettered and the demands of the outside world will give every American producer a market for his work and his wares.

During the next generation there will be little provocation for strikes. At best they will be the crudest remedy that could be devised. They generally fail. They are expensive. They widen the breach between capital and labor.

After all, capital and employers are auman. They like to be on the right side of public opinion. Censure wilts them and praise is sweet. The leaders of the workingmen should study human nature and utilize their conclusions. Let them make it a point to be just and moderate in their demands and they will always find public sentiment on their side. Then they will win. They will not have to resort to strikes or to violent methods. The people and their lawmakers will see that the toilers get their rights. But the country is against strikes, against lawlessness, against violence. The intelligent American workman will find it to be his interest to take his stand for peace and order, and in the long run he will find that it pays better than the best planned strike.

Delay Means Haste,

Some of the democratic brethren who have been fluttered and made nervous by republican bluster in regard to an extra session, declare as they fan themselves with their hats that there should be no hasty tariff legislation. "Don't rush things, please," they cry. "Look at the condition we are already in."

The brethren are right in protesting against hasty tariff legislation. We want nothing of that sort, for it would be undeniably worse than no legislation at all. But did it ever occur to the flustered brethren that the postponement of all preparations for tariff legislation-even the preliminaries—for more than a year can mean nothing less than hasty legisla-

Let us say that no extra session is called. The new congress meets in December, 1893. Then comes the holiday adjournment, and some time in January, 1894, the preliminaries for tariff reform will be suggested. A little later they will be arranged. Those who have the business in charge will want to make some sort of reasonable showing in time for the congressional elections in the fall of '94. The ways and means committee will be under whip and spur for that purpose. But what can be accomplished in the way of tariff reform, in 1894, even by means of hasty legislation? Nothing-absolutely nothing. The new tariff law cannot be put into operation at once. The interests that are affected by it must have time to put their affairs in order Consequently, if there is no extra session -if there is an unnecessary and a witless postponement for a year or more—the democrats will go before the country in the fall campaign of 1894 with nothing but a record of unfulfilled promises. Nobody knows what the result would be, but if we are to judge the future by the past, the democrats will lose the house in 1894. This is the record of nearly all the administrations, and it is due mainly to the impatience and disgust of the voters who do not clearly understand the workings of our system. They perceive that the party they have placed in charge is apparently in no greater haste to carry out their will than the party they have ousted, and they take the first and most convenient method of showing their displeasure. We therefore desire to ask the flustered brethren whether there would be as much "unseemly haste" in calling an extra session next spring and proceeding deliber ately to reform the tariff as there would be in waiting for the regular session and going ahead with a rush to reform the tariff in time to affect the fall elections of 1894? This is a question to be carefully considered by the party leaders, and it should be settled without regard to the blustering attitude of the whipped organs of the minority party.

The people have given the democrats a commission not only to reform the tariff, but to undertake such other legislation as will carry out the oft-repeated pledges of the party. That much is certain. With this commission goes the right and the duty of the party to bring the promised reforms about as rapidly and as Ter on to consistant portance of the interests involved.

Ever since the war there has been disposition and a tendency on the part of the democrats to act on the defensive. They have gone about their business in a timid, tentative way. If there was an ex cuse for this it no longer exists. The democratic policy from first to last has been so overwhelmingly endorsed by the people that there can no longer be any doubt as to their desires. There is not a particle of uncertainty as to the part the people expect the democrats to play. We think, therefore, that the tentative programme should be laid aside. The party should proceed to carry out its pledges boldly and confidently.

An Epidemic of Insanity.

Within the past week our local and telegraphic columns have told the story of several notable cases of insanity, here and

Apparently without any known cause, respectable citizens in different sections of the country have suddenly and without any warning leaped from a condition of perfect sanity into the wildest and most murderous excesses, and upon investigation it has been ascertained that they were maniacs.

What is there in the American mode of living that explains these epidemics of insanity? Undoubtedly there is a cause, but what is it, and what is the remedy The outlook is anything but hopeful if this tendency is to increase, and we are to look forward to what Taine characterizes as the insanity of nations. It gives a man an unpleasant sense of insecurity to think that his business associate or companion, after a lifetime of decorous conduct, is liable at any moment to go gunning for him, and then be acquitted on the ground of mental irresponsibility. There is something wrong in the American make-up, but it will puzzle the wisest expert to point it out. Bismarck's Methods.

The newspapers of Europe are making a great outcry over Bismarck's recent statement that he deliberately falsified the telegram which precipitated the Franco-Prussian war.

It is now said that the German states man is without scruples and without shame, and that he is the greatest criminal of his generation. Perhaps this will not surprise close observers and students of history. Bismarck simply followed the methods of European diplomacy. Before his day as great a man as Napoleon made lying one of the chief factors of statesmanship. The French emperor never hesitated to tell a lie when he could make it plausible and gain something by it. It was all wrong, of course, but doubtless all the diplomats of that time vere trying to outdo each other in false

In this country we had a notable example in the person of General Sherman, who charged the burning of Columbia upon General Wade Hampton, and then admitted, years afterward, that he fabricated the story in order to destroy Hamp-ton's popularity in South Carolina. Evidently, Sherman was built on the Bismarckian plan.

It is no new thing to discover that falsehood plays a prominent part in the world's politics. There are many great men who believe that the affairs of nations cannot be conducted upon the principles of the New Testament. The average Englishman, for instance, is a moral man, but the policy of his country has always been one of oppression and spo-liation. To some extent this applies to our own people. We believe in standing by our contracts and respecting the rights of others, but how can we justify the government's treatment of the Indians and the Chinese?

Bismarck deserves condemnation, but what shall we say of our political methods? Is it not true that falsehood is a very powerful factor in our public affairs, and has it not Irequently determined great questions of peace and war?

Belike, if the republicans keep up their bluster, some of the brethren will want to ostpone tariff reform and other reforms for another four years.

The Sherman silver bill is giving the mo metallists more trouble than it is anybody else. And it is down on the program that their troubles will be largely increased. A few of the younger republicans are gradually recovering from the jolt, but the older bucks are still in a bad fix. The information that Mr. Cleveland is opposed to an extra session appears to have Far from doing any damage the collision would turnish a magnificent display of celestial fire-works, such as occurred November 27, 1832, works, such as occurred November 27, 1832, when the earth was crossing to old track of the comet, and again in November, 1886. the comet, and again in November, 1886, when the earth once more cut through the comet's path. The comet now in sight presents the usual characteristics. According to Professor Rees the coma, or nebulous envelope surrounding the neucleus is almost perfectly spherical. The nucleus is well developed and elongated. At times it seems to show signs of separation. The streamer of light, the "tail" usually accompanying a comet, is he "tail" usually accompanying a comet, is s yet invisible, but whether this is due to a lack of that member, or as already explained to the position of the body, cannot at present be determined. Sharp eyes, if they knew ex-actly where to look, might without the aid of actly where to 160k, might without the and or glasses, distinguish the comet as a star seen through a slight fog. It is apparently in the constellation. Andromeda, which is almost directly overhead at 8 o'clock p. m. Of course as the comet approaches it will become more conspicuous. How bright it will be at the time of its nearest proximity cannot be stated. It may equal in glory the great comet of 1882 but this is doubtful.

Ever since the discovery of Biela's comet men have stood more or less in dread of the flery visitor. The ignorant tremble before it as presaging wars, famine, pestilence, conflagrations and other evils, while many well educated persons are fearful that harm may be done either by a comet striking the earth and shooting it to pieces or by falling into the sun and producing such an increase of solar heat as to burn up our planet. If a comet should strike the earth head on no one can say crackly what the consequences will be Our should strike the earth head on no one can say exactly what the consequences will be, On the generally accepted theory that the nucleus of comets is composed of small particles, the particles would be dissipated by friction with the atmosphere long before they passed through the fifty miles surrounding the earth. If, however, the nucleus is composed of heavy masses, weighing tons, but widely separated, the bombardment to which the earth would be subjected might result disastronsiv.

Our people are well pleased with the selection, though there was considerable disappointment occasioned by the withdrawal of Governor B. F. Hudspeth, who has many stanch and warm friends in this section. But the venerable colonel has his friends no less than Mr. Hudspeth, Early, upon the whole, is well pleased with Baker's choice. There is some talk here of a candidate from the third party ranks to oppose Colonel Fleming. Our people would be well pleased with this turn, as they are very auxious now to 'rub in' the crushing defeat so recently administered to that party. The third party in Early cannot hope to survive many whippings, and the sooner they are vanquished the better."

POINTED AND PERSONAL.

Miss Georgia Green has just finished a very beautiful piece of tapestry painting, which is to adorn one of the handsomest homes on Peachtree. The subject is the "Awakening of Spring." Spring, personfied by a beautiful female figure, has, apparently, just arisen from sleep on a flowery bank. With head thrown back and lovely outstretched arms; with face half hidden in the misty folds of with face half hidden in the misty folds of her mantle; sleep lingering in the eyes and a smile on the lips, she seems but half conscious of the gambols of two sportive elves who mischievously tug at her girdle, while a third, poised like a butterfly over het head, is whispering to her, "Awake! Awake!" The tender green of the spring foliage; the glowing morning sky, whose tints are reflected in a placid lake; the grassy bank and flowers of varied hues make up a tont and flowers of varied hues make up a tout ensembled which is altogether charming. The painting will be on exhibition for a short time at Miss Green's studio in the short time at Gould building.

SPEECH BY GENERAL P. M. B. YOUNG

An Important Resolution Adopted in Regard to the Carrying of Two Flags-Action in Regard to the Home.

There was a very large an enthusiastic meeting of the Confederate Veterans Associa-tion last night in their hall near Broad street

There were fully two hundred members present, and the interest which was taken in the meeting as manifested by the speeches which were made was greater perhaps than at any time during the year.

Judge W. L. Cainoun, the president of the association, presided over the meeting.

Among the distinguished visitors present was that gallant warhorse of the confederacy, General P. M. B. Young.

He made one of his rousing speeches, and touched upon the bill now pending in the legislature for the acceptance of the soldiers home. The general was at his best, and his claimplonship of the old soldiers was characterized by his usual magnetic elemence.

ploaship of the old soldiers was characterized by his usual magnetic eloquence. He said he was willing to go from one end of the state to the other in order to benefit the men who stood by Georgia in the trenches and upheld the honor of the commonwealth. Speeches were also made by Judge W. L. Calhoun, Rev. T. P. Cleveland and Dr. J. William Jones.

Speeches were also made by Judge W. L. Calhoun, Rev. T. P. Cleveland and Dr. J. William Jones.

An Important Resolution.

The following resolution in regard to the emblem of the organization was introduced by Dr. Jones:

Whereas it is proper that whenever our association turns out on public parade, or takes part in any public procession it should display suitable emblems, which shall set forth to the world, who and what we are;

Therefore, be it resolved, first, that our secretary be instructed to procure a suitable mational flag under which emblem of our common country we shall always march. Second, that the secretary be instructed also to procure a larger and more attractive confederate buttle flag than the one we now have.

Third, that these two flags shall be always carried whenever this association turns out in a body, the "stars and the stripes" as the flag of the government to which we now owe allegiance, and in which we claim equal rights and equal privileges, as we are ready to give equal service with any others, and the battle flag of the confederacy, as a simple souvenir of "things that were," a reminder of the hallowed memories of an heroic struggle of which we should never be ashamed, and which we propose to teach to our children and our children's children nover to forget."

Major J. F. Edwards then offered the following resolution as a supplement to that of Dr. Jones and in order to carry out its full design:

Resolved, That in order to carry out the res-

Resolved, That in order to carry out the resolution of Dr. Jones that the president be, and is hereby authorized to appoint two color bearers for this association and to assign them their position in the line of march.
Both resolutions met with the agreement of the members present and were rousingly adopted by a full vote.

It was further adopted to advocate and advance in every way possible the cause of the soliders' home now pending in the legislature, and to urge that body in behalf of the old veterans who need the shelter of the home, to accept the offer of the trustees and to vote the needed appropriation.

MR- CARL HARMSEN'S FUNERAL,

It Will Occur from the First Presbyte The funeral of Mr. Carl Harmsen will occur this morning from the First Presby-terian church, and the ashes of that good man will be laid to rest in Oakland ceme-man will be laid to rest in Oakland cemetery.

Throughout the day there were many callers at the saddened home and many were the beautiful tokens of sorrow that were left in the way of exquisite flowers.

"I never knew a better man than Mr. Harmzen," said a well-known gentleman yesterday. "He was the happiest man I ever met. He loved everybody and as a consequence everybody loved him, especially the little children. He was poor in pocket for, while others were engaged in making money, he was laying up his treasures in the same and t ially the little children. He was poor in pocket for, while others were engaged in making money, he was laying up his treasures in heaven. He was a millionaire in his Christian faith, and now he is wearing a crown of stars."

Mr. Harmsen was a good man and a true Christian. He spent his life in the cause of others and went about doing good. His life was gentle and more than that, it was pare. During all the years in which he moved along the streets and came in contact with his fellow-men he scarcely soiled the image of his maker and lived each hour like the next one was his last.

He never tolerated anything impure. A speech that would grate upon a woman's ear was never welcome in his own. He never used profanity even in quotations, and never uttered an unkind word against any human being.

No man, however, steeped in sin was beneath his notice or beyond his efforts to redeem. It was his habit to frequently visit the jail, and there, as the days go by, without the sound of his accustomed footfall, the wretched inmates will "sigh for the touch of a vanished hand and the sound of a voice that is still."

He carried in his pocket a key to the rear door of the church and frequently during the week he entered the sanctuary for the purpose of kneeling in prayer before the altar.

Mr. Harmsen was the friend of the negro,

Sustained a loss in his death.

For thirty-five years he was an active Christian and served the church of God as a teacher, as a musical director, as a Sunday school superintendent, as a deacon and then as an elder. In addition to all that he never forgot his secular employment.

It was a grand life in its summing up and the total of it all was—love. No fitter epitaph could be engraved upon his tomb than this: "He worked until his limbs were weary, and then the angels caught him."

The echoes of such a life—simple and consecrated—will be felt when many a lordly name is forgotten, and many, too, the dates of whose birth are in the future will yet rise up to "praise him in the gates" and to be the disciples of his influence.

The funeral will occur this morning at 10:30 o'clock and the deacons and elders of the church will act as pallbearers.

Messrs. H. C. Stockdell and A. D. Adate were the only members of the old committee present. The former called the meeting to order. Subsequently he was elected charman. On Judge Hammond's motion a committee of ten was appointed by the charman to submit names for committeemen for next year.

The committee retired and after a few minutes reported the following names: A. D. Adair, J. F. Gatins, George R. De Saussure and Jacob Haas. The report was adopted and the meeting adjourned. In the Third Ward.

Only one ward expressed a preference for chairman of the committee and that was the fourth. That ward passed a resolution directing its delegation to place before the twenty-four for chairman, the name of Captain John M. Miller.

various stages of the game. Particular attention is called to the general symmetry of all the players on one side. This comes from a knowledge of just what play is to be made. When, for example, the quarter-back signals for a run around the right end most of the players in the line will start simultaneously for the right end as soon as the ball is snapped back. It is the same way with a buck through the center. The players, at a given signal, mass themselves and throw their whole weight on the opposing phalanx. In nearly every case it will also be observed that there are no drones on a football team. Every man is in earnest, and is either in motion or preparing himself to take part in a certain prearranged play. READY FOR THE BALL.

THE NORTHEN SOCIETY AND ITS WORK

It Has Taken Hold of the Need of a State Bureau of Immigration-Items of In-terest from Different Departments.

An enthusiastic meeting of the North-ern Society was held last night for the purpose of acting on a proposition to memorialize the state legislature for the establishment of a state bureau of immigration.

Among the speakers were Messrs. H. K. Boland, J. H. Bell, L. J. Trounstine, A. R. Bryan, F. H. Gates, Rev. Samuel Young, Charles Rounette, C. H. Dennison, G. W. Crouch, President C. N. Kight, Secretary Warner, Mr. A. B. Carrier and others.

The resolution following was unanimously adopted and a special committee consisting of Messrs. A. B. Carrier, A. R. Bryan and W. C. Warner was authorized to prepare a suitable bill with the assistance of Fulton county's representatives and urge its passage by the state legislature.

Begins with a preamble citing the object of the society as being "to develop the vast natural wealth and resources of the south and encourage new industries and enterprises, wanch object can be most enectually attained by increasing the population by mucing desirable persons to make their homes within her borders. It is then resolved that a direct effort be made by the society to have the state establish to bureau of immigration to set forth the advantages of the state and advises an advisory board whose memoers shall serve without pay. It recommends an appropriation on $5,000, of which $1,500 is to go for the salary of a secretary, the balance to be used in preparing and disseminating information of value to the state. STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

State Board of Health.

Savannah's Health Officer Says the Pending Bill Is Too Expensive.

Dr. W. F. Brunner, health officer of Savannah, is in the city on his way to the City of Alexico where the American Association of Health meets next week. Dr. Brunner says that sentiment in his city among the physicians and the health authorities is against the bill recently introduced in the legislature to create a state board of health. A board is desired, but not on the lines of this bill exactly. The measure which is pending follows Florida's law, Dr. Brunner says.

"Savannah is more deeply interested in a law of this nature than any other city in the state, he remarked. "Our commerce is 75 per cent of the commerce of the state. We have very strict quarantino regulations at our port. We would wish to be in perfect accord with the state authorities, and we hope that whatever legislation is passed will be considerate of that. Our city sanitary board has examined this bill and we think that it is too costly a device by far. Savannah has the best quarantine station on the south Atlantic coast. Indeed, it is surpassed by only New York and New Orleans of all the cities in this country."

Dr. Brunner leaves today for Mexico. He is a young physician in appearance, but has had long experience. He has been health officer of his city for four years, and has been prompt to take steps to protect Savannah whenever she has been threatened by epidemics. He has dealt with yellow fever and smallpox, and he closed the port against the cholera. last summer.

DEATH OF MRS. FRANK WILBY.

It Occured at Her Residence on Foundry

Street Last Night.

Mrs. Frank Wilby, the wife of the genial and popular freight agent of the East Tennessee and Georgia railroad, died at her home on Foundry street last night at 9:30 o'clock.

It was considered necessary in order to prolong her life to perform a very dangerous and uncertain operation.

Accordingly the operation was performed yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The following physicians were present: Dr. Noble, Dr. Stephens, Dr. Gaston and Dr. Gaston, Jr.

Her constitution, however, was too delicate to stand the ordeal and in spite of the skill of the physicians she sank under the skill of the physicians and constraints.

Mrs. Wilby was a lady of many sweet and womanly graces and was greatly beloved by every one who knew her.

The funeral will-occur from her late residence, 85 Foundry street, Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. The interment will be in Westview cemetery.

The various policemen going on duty yesterday heard a tale of woe in the following notice that was read out to them: "Stolen, one Leghorn rooster, black, with red neck and back; large red comb and long black tail, about four months old. Has no spurs. Stolen from Captain A. B. Connolly."

The same sad story could have been read in the chief's face. He was attached to that rooster and when he awoke yesterday morning and found him missing he was inconsolable. He had the above notice read to the three watches going on duty in the hope that out of the population of roosters in this city, estimated roughly at 73,458, his particular chicken might be followed up and restored to him. With tears in ...eir eyes each policeman who heard the touching story of the kidnapping of the chief's rooster resolved to find the lost bird if he was still in the land of the living these Thanksgiving times.

AN OLD-TIME POSSUM HUNT. Bird Has Vamoosed.

AN OLD-TIME 'POSSUM HUNT. Iessrs. Forrest Adair, W. I. Zachry, R. M. Farrar, and Others, Catch a 'Possum.

Farrar, and Others, Catch a 'Possum.

And old time 'possum hunt is what the following gentlemen enjoyed the other night. Messrs. W. I. Zachry, Harris Lloyd, R. M. Farrar, Forest Adair and several others.

The gentlemen named prowled through the woods from early dusk until the peep of dawn and the result was one 'possum, twice as large as a good sized kitten.

And the ardent hunters were disappointed—agreeably, for they all declared that they had not expected to catch anything at all.

From all that could be gleaned from the participants, a rattlesnake bite would have resulted seriously; one member, however, graciously acknowledged that he did not know the 'possum from a green 'simmon.

The hunt began at 8 o'clock. and the three-dogs were soon in full cry, but the object of their persuit proved to be a stray pig, and the scene of the hunt ended in the backyard of an honest farmer who had evidently gone to bed with a large size jag on, as he introduced the whole party to his cupboard and gave them the remnants of a once full jug of hard cider. The distant baying of the hounds some distant off, awoke the 'possom hunters to the object of their pursuit and at 10:30 the party were enjoying the second part of their 'possom trot.

And the dogs had really discovered a 'possom, or something else, as a rather slick hole in the ground under a stump testified.

Then the fun began!

"Go 'long you young folks and get him out," volunteered Mr. Farrar from his perch on a stump nearby.

"Put your hand in the hole and feel for the 'possom, W. I., won't you?" urged Forest Adair to Mr. Zachry.

"Yes," responded Mr. Zachry. "I remember the time once when I would have done the very thing you mention, but—" and Mr. Zachry changed his quid of tobacco in a reflected manner from one side to the other.

"Suppose we don't cross the bridge before 've get to it," volunteered Harris Lloyd.

After some further argument, and very little action, one of the party went back to the farm and secured a pick axe and a shovel and soon the much desired and long sought after animal was brought to light. With a wild yell of delight, Forest Adair grabbed the 'possum by the tail and held it up before the eyes of the eager and victorious huutars for inspection.

"Weighs twenty pounds," vehemently declared Master Gholstin Zachry, in the highest ecstacy of youth.

"No," said the gentleman, familiarly addressed as 'W. I.' by the others, "he won't weigh much more than ten pounds," and his voice had a twang of disappointed doubtlessness concealed in the middle.

And this estimate was the lowest; the actual weight of the 'possom proved to be just two and three quarter pounds.

The Sequel to the Hunt.

The Sequel to the Hunt. The Sequel to the Hunt.

The 'possum hight occurred Saturday night, and last night the sequel was enjoyed by the original 'possum party and a number of specially invited guests, at the elegant home of Mr. W. I. Zachry, in West End.

The unfortunate 'possum caught Saturday night graced the center of the table, and with the many courses proved a most enjoyable supper.

CONSOLIDATION POSSIBLE.

The Marietta and North Georgia Is Working Out of the Receivership. Out of the Receivership.

Three weeks ago Mr. E. Summerfield, of New York, made an inspection trip over the Marietta and North Georgia, the Atlanta and Florida, the Georgia Midland and Gulf, the Columbus Southern and the Knoxville and Cumberland Gap roads. He is an expert, representing Coffin & Stanton, New York bankers. It is now reported that the Marietta and North Georgia may soon be reorganized and a consolidation of the lines mentioned or of some of them may follow. Coffin & Stanton hold bonds in all these roads. A majority of the bonds and stock of the Marietta and North Georgia is reported to be on deposit with a reorganization committee, in which this firm is interested, along with Messrs. Post, Denniston and other northern bankers.

It is thought that the Marietta and North Georgia may eventually be extended to Atlanta and connected with the Atlanta and Florida.

Three committees have undertaken the task of reorganizing the Marietta and North Georgia. If the consolidation is made, a new short line will be made from East Tennessee down through Georgia and, after awhile, either to the Georgia coast or into Florida.

Mr. Summerfield's firm controls the Blue Ridge and Atlantic road and owns two western lines.

Miss Jarbeau has diversified talent and her eleverness is often above a part of her audience. Some of her most artistic touches do not get the appreciation they deserve. For instance, her imitation of the great Theo is more artistic than Dixie's of Irving. Indeed, his is mere mimicy while she reproduces. Miss Jarbeau is very dainty in this line. Her dancing was heartily approved and her songs were repeatedly encored. She has some attractive members in her company, and the choruses were well rendered. Mr. Snow. By Private Wire to B. W. Martin, Manager.

NEW YORK, November 21.—The market today was a rather tame affair, The traders expected Europe to come in a buyer, but, as they did nothing in this market, the traders sold stocks, and, with the aid of Mr. Cammack's manipulation on the bear side, were successful in bringing about somewhat of a reaction. The weakest stocks were against the corn carriers, and the argument of the short corn crop was freely used. There is no doubt that these roads must feel it in the end, and it cannot be expected that they will carry as much stuff as last lear. Gould is also, no doubt, working for lower prices, and is marking down his specialties so as to affect the other list. The silver congress meets tomorrow in Brussels, but people expect the session to cover the balance of this year, as a great deal of debating and speechmaking will no doubt be indulged in. The great question for the present course of the market is whether we will export gold at the end of this week or not. Sterling exchange is very strong, and, unless Europe buys stocks this week, it is reasonably assured that gold will go out by Saturday's steamers. It is, therefore, for the interest of all to watch the London market. By Private Wire to B. W. Martin, Manager.

especially in view of the probable discontinuance of the strike during the coming week. The best information we can get indicates the probability of an increased movement during the present week. This was naturally expected in view of the recent advance in prices. Receipts at New Orleans tomorrow are estimated at 19,000 bales, against 22,000 bales last year. Senator Sherman is quoted by the Washington correspondent of The New York Herald as predicting the passage of the anti-option bill. It is becoming evident that the discussion of the bill in the senate will be an active one, and the leaders of the probable debate on both sides are said to have been already arranged. During the afternoon the market, while preserving a steady tone, cased away slightly. The closins, however, was about 2 points over Saturday's figures. The traders are disposed to expect quieter markets, at least until after the Thanksgiving, and the disposition of the larger operators is to wait for the evidence of Pecember receipts before more fully crediting the small crop estimates current. It is understood that Mr. Neill's revised estimate estimate of the crop will be made public on Wednesday, and will be from 6,500,000 to 2,700,000 bales maximum.

NEW YORK, November 21—Our market this morning opened very steady indeed at an advance of from 365 points above the closing prices of Saturday. Shortly after the opening it was reported here that the receipts at Norfolk would be about 11,000 bales, which would have been excessively heavy and caused a decline of about 566 points. Subsequently, when it transpired that they were only about 3,000 bales, the market again became very firm and held steady throughout the balance of the day, closing slightly easier on some disposition to realize. There has, in fact, been considerable long cotton sold today which, however was well absorbed owing to the strength of the southern markets. Europe has been no factor in today's trading, and we believe that business here has been but moderate. In fact, fuctuations today have been much less violent than was generally expected, and the trading that was done no doubt was more in the nature of closing old business than engaging in new. The receipts continue moderate. Tomorrow they are estimated at £3,000 bales. All in all, the position does not show any weakees whatsoever. We may they are estimated at $2,000 bales. All in all, the posi-tion does not show any weakess whatsoever. We may have some sharp declines brought about by realizing purchases, but we believe that such a decline, if it does come, will only be temporary. On Saturday last it was rumored that Neill would today reduce his estimate to $,500,000 bales, but we have not heard anything in con-nection with this matter today, and undoubtedly such an estimate has not been made.

an estimate has not been made.

CHICAGO, November 21.—The grain markets today were exceedingly dull and neglected. Wheat opened rather firm, advanced to about 79 1-2 for May, but finally closed at 78 3-4 @ 7-8, a shade lower than Saturday's close. The light receipts in the whiter wheat primary points gave a little encouragement to holders. Corn was also a little firm, which had its influence; although the India shipments of wheat are very light, the offerings from Russia are increasing. This caused a decline of about 1-2c in Liverpool. Holders have nothing in sight at present to encourage them. The main strength of the entire market was in hog products. Owing to the receipts of hogs being about 10,000 under the estimate, the shorts, both great and small, were active buyers, it being reported that some very heavy packers who have been on the short side were the chief buyers. Some large lines of November lard were settled with Hately Bros., who have control of that deal. Hog product has advanced to a point where packers can realize a small profit, but the hogs continue scare. It is quite probable that the low-priced corn and the fine weather for feeding is the principal cause of the shortage in hogs.

table, and Mr. Boyd's resolution and the resolution to withdraw the bill was adopted.

One of the bills now pending is one giving the mayor and general council the right to allow the saloons to keep open on certain election days or to compel them to close as it sees fit, and on this bill Mr. Boyd again presented a resolution to have it withdrawn.

"I think" said Mr. Woodward, "that Mr. Boyd is wrong. We should pass that bill through the legislature. As it is, the saloons are compelled to close every time there is an election. Even a justice of the peace election makes the saloons close."

"If we have ever had such a resolution here," said Mr. Hill, "authorizing any such legislation as that, I don't know it. Where did the bill criginate any how?"

"Right here," said the clerk.

"That the —rst time I ever heard of that thing," replied Mr. Hill smiling. "Why, it's awfully funny that a body of legislators like we are should have allowed any such a thing to creep through. We all know, or at least we ought to know, that such a measure is unconstitutional and the Georgia legislature could not pass it and make it a law without submitting it to the vote of the people. The liquor traffic, as far as the sale on election days, is controlled by the state constitution and we needn't monkey with it."

"Tm of the opinion," said Mr. Shropshire.

"Le liquor laws are now in as good shape as we can get them, and I say let them alone. The people here in Atlanta are very well satisfied with them as they are and I think any change would be very unwise. Let's leave them alone."

"I'm of the opinion," said Mr. Shropshire.

"I'm sure," said Mr. Reneau, "that the whiskey trade is better regulated in Atlanta than in any town in the world, and if we want to be happy let us leave it alone. Don't go to stirring this thing up again, for we can't do any good by it."

"I'tell you an it's unconstitutional," said Mr. Hill.

Mr. Boya's resolution I want to introduce as chairman of the relief committee." said

Help for Mrs. Wolf.

"I have a resolution I want to introduce as chairman of the relief committee," said Mr. Murphy.

The resolution provided for a monthly appropriation of seventy-five dollars a month for the use of the home Mrs. Wolfe is seeking to establish for fallen girls to be paid monthly for the next three months.

--ar. Sawtell opposed the resolution.

Mr. Holbrook moved to refer the resolution to the finance committee, but his motion was lost and then the resolution was adopted.

Too Much Law.

the ays and nayes be called.

The call resulted in the withdrawal of the bill, only two votes being recorded against its withdrawal—Mr. Woodward and Mr.

et and before completing his talk had anted himself squarely upon the report it the committee.

"What," said he, "are you going to do ith these poor God-forsaken creatures? to, not God forsaken, but man forsaken that they had been betrayed? It's a shame say. It makes no difference how low a san soes we are all ready at any time to each out a hand and save him. But here a the poor girl some scoundrel worse than and say the soundrel worse than and say the same and yet we stand up here and talk bout throwing them out of doors as coolly a we would discuss a dead hog or pig. I ay it a shame and I'm for helping these sood women along."

"I have been over there," said Mr. shropaire, "and I have looked into this natter about as carefully as any one, and he only solution I see is the one the committee offers. To look at those poor chilms is snough to win any man to the work hese ladies are now undertaking. I would salk a dozen miles to save either one of them or all of them into my home to care or them rather than aid in throwing them ut. I would not find it in my heart to bleet to the home if it had been located lear me."

Some Routine Matter.

The comptroller's report showed $811,-612.22 as the balance of the appropriations remaining unexpended.

The committee on electric lights approved several new lights which are widely scattered in their location.

The fire department committee recommended a number of building permits.

Mr. Woodward, of the public buildings and grounds committee, recommended the sale of forty feet more to the electric light plant, the city having already sold the company sixty feet, but the entire matter was recommitted to the committee for further investigation.

The public buildings and grounds committee was instructed to advertise for bids for equipping the new station house electrically.

report. He said that he was not opposed to the work and that he would give liberally to help it along, but he was opposed to locating the home among people who did not want it.

The report of the committee was adopted and within the next few days Mrs. Barrett and Mrs. Wolf will begin work on the new home. In the mean time Mrs. Wolf will remain where she is on Peters street.

Amending the City Charter.

The caption of the bill now pending be-rore the legislature amending the city charter, was read by the special committee on legislation.

Mr. Hurt was given the floor and opposed a bill changing the law by which street paving is done.

The proposed change in the sewer law was discussed and the bill pending was withdrawn. The law now assesses ninety cents per lineal foot on sewers on either side, and this assessment the property owners must pay. If the sewer runs through a man's property, he must pay on both sides which makes his bill $1.80 per lineal foot. At some points the sewers cost more than the dollar and eighty cents, while at other points they cost less. The amendment seeks to make the property owner pay just what the sewer actually costs, provided that at no time the cost shall be more than the maximum—90 cents or 80, as the case may be.

Mr. Boyd presented a resolution withdrawing that act.

Mr. Reinhardt, who conceived the idea, left the chair and made a strong appeal to the general council to table Mr. Boyd's resolution. But the council refused to table, and Mr. Boyd's resolution and the resolution to withdraw the bill was adopted.

One of the bills now pending is one giving the maxes and accounting the

"We have a bill before the legislature." said Mr. Hill, "providing for more legislation relative to the fee system. That bill makes the tung wholly obligatory upon us. We now have here in our laws the right to place the marshal and clerk upon a salary and to abolish fees. If we find that that is not feasible we can change it. But if this law they are now working with is adopted and we try the salary system and find it a failure, we will have to go back to the legislature before we can make any change."

change."
Mr. Woodward opposed the motion to withdraw the pending bill and upon the nassage of Mr. Hill's resolution asked that

Mr. Woodward presented a resolution extending the corporate limits of Atlanta so as to take in the East Lake Land Company for police purposes. East Lake is in De-Kalb county and Mr. Hill came up with the statement that such a law might not be right. Mr. Rice was of the same opinion as Mr. Hill.

The paper was referred.

The salary Just the Same.

The salary committee, Mr. Holbrook chairman, presented a report on Mr. Boyd's resolution reducing ue salaries of the aldermen and councilmen to be elected next month. Mr. Boyd's resolution looked to an abolition of salaries. The report was adverse to the resolution, and upon the passage of the report Mr. Boyd called for the ayes and nayes.

The aldermen could not vote, so Mr. Boyd had no chance to express himself. The members of the council did talk, and they talked lond, too, as their names were called. Every one of them voted against any decrease in salary for those who will be elected next month.

The retail liquor license of the late W. C. Boggan was transferred to Harry Spillman.

he always does notoriety, he makes a personal report to the public press. He says: "Now I want to say that I do not attempt to make a report for the committee in what I have to say, but I am only giving my individual impressions of what I saw and heard;" yet he signs the same as a legislator. This judge, this member of this committee, seeks to influence public opinion by an exparte statement of charges made upon the NEW GOODS. seeks to inducence public opinion by an exparte statement of charges made upon the authority of a convict. Ordinary decency it seems to me would have required that a fudge, a member of a committee, should make his report to the, authority appointing him; at this case the house of representatives, instead of to the public press. He did not do that because he sought notoriety. I shall not attempt to answer this personal report fully or become involved in any convoversy with this negro member of the legislature and shall not notice him further after this card. I have deemed in the company of the control of the committee and believe that the control of the committee and believe that the control of the committee is made, at which time; if the committee sees at to make any charges, which I do not believe it will do, it will be full time for me to be heard from fully. It would seem to be lair dealing and common courtesy that a member of the committee seeking after truth would make his endealing after the way carse to the body appointing him and not to the public press. Styles did not do so. Why not? I will answer. As usual, he was seeking notoriety. To illustrate, when discussing he question of the separation of whites from negroes in rail-way cars he used some very incendiary language in the house. See The Constitution of Thursday, November 17, 1892. The quite that railroad should not exist to burn live and control of the constitution of the house he said: "Such a law is calculated, and in fact does make and establish a breach between the races and cause animatities which should not exist to burn live and control of the committee and the house he said: "Such a law is calculated, and in fact does make and establish a breach between the races and cause animatities which should not exist to burn live and control of the committee he sought to force himself to sit with the white members in one of the house he said: "Such a law is calculated, and in fact does make and establish a breach between the face and the house he

Regretting, Messrs. Public Press, that it is necessary for me to have to take the slightest notice of this man Styles, and regretting further that a member of the legislature, although a negro, should so far forget himself as to rush into print with a view of creating public sentiment in obedience to a command of his party leader instead of reporting back to the house what his impressions or views might be and dismissing him without further notice, and requesting the public to withhold its judgment until after the committee makes its report, I remain yours truly.

President Dade Coal Company.

P. S.—I request all papers which may notice Styles's article as an act of justice to publish this reply. The day for the meeting of the "Old" Woman's Christian Temperance Union has been changed from Thursday to Wednesday. All members and friends are requested to assemble this Wednesday, at 3 o'elock p. m., in the lecture room of the First Baptist church.

the company, the superintendent of the convicts and went off to inspect a new railway and I put the committee in charge of the superintendent of the mining department to carry him through the mines, and most of them did go a mile and a quarter under the earth, where it was necessary for them to go in order to see how coal is dug, and how convicts, and also free and honest men 'tig coal, as coal is not found on top of the ground, as Styles seems, by his article, to think. If we had turned the committee loose under the earth, as we have about twelve miles of openings, entries and rooms, they would have been utterly lost. I heard no complaint from any member of the committee for this efficient guide being furnished to them. I am informed, as I have stated, that Styles did not go under the ground, and therefore cannot possibly know anything about the condition there.

Styles then makes grave charges as to how convicts are treated. He says that the convicts have no pure air to breathe; that they are crippled by slate falling on them, and that water trickles on them and various stuff of that kind. The last official report sent me shows that we have 594 convicts at the Dade mines and only five in the hospital, and two of these chronic cases. It seems strange that trickling water, foul air and stuff of that kind that Styles speaks of should be so healthy. He bases his information was given me by a white prisoner, who said that he knew they would give him hell when we left, but he did not care if they did, for he would rathe be dead and in hell than be there, for it could be no worse. This white convict is well known in this state, and I would call his name were it not for the fact that he would give him hell when we left, but he did not care if they did, for he would rathe be dead and in hell than be there, for it could be no worse. This white convict is well known in this state, and I would call his name were it not for the fact that he would give him hell when we left, but he will be no worse. This white convict who

THE SOLDIERS' HOME

Mr. Sears, of Webster, and His Mammoti Pension Bill-All Kinds of Legisla-tive Rumors and Gossip.

This seems to be pension week with the The bill for the acceptance of the Soldiers Home will come up tomorrow as the spe-cial order of the day in the house. The fight over this bill—and if signs count for aught it will be a furious fight-is already on, and the friends of the bill are hard at work to ward off the efforts of the opposition. Strange as it may seem, in the face of the overwhelming public sentiment in favor of the bill, there is a strong opposition rising up in the house to defeat the measure. This, too, despite the fact that the home is now offered free from all binding obligations and conditions—simply as a gracious gift to the state for the comfort and protection of the old vets in their

It was not surprising in view of the op-position to the home yesterday when a bill was sent to the clerk's desk by Sears, of Webster, looking to a change in the conof Webster, looking to a change in the constitution of the state, and providing for a mammoth pension law. The bill goes on to ausswep ensions liberally to all disabled confederate veterans and provides for an extravagant pension list which several prominent members of the house say will add at least $200,000 or $300,000 to the already heavy pension list.

The purpose of the bill is set forth in least $200,000 or $300,000 to the already heavy pension list.

The purpose of the bill is set forth in brief in the following few clauses:

To supply the soldiers who lost a limb or limbs in the military service of the confederate states with substantial artificial limbs during life and to make suitable provisions for such confederate soldiers as may have otherwise been disabled or permanently lajured in such service or who by reason of age or infirmity are unable to support them selves, and for the widows of such confederate soldiers as may have died in the service of the confederate states or since from wounds received therein or disases contracted therein.

The change of the constitution consists in adding to the pension list all confederate soldiers who may not be injured or maimed but who are in needy circumstances and by reason of old age and feebleness cannot earn a living.

but who are in needy circumstances and by reason of old age and feebleness cannot earn a living.

It is claimed by the friends of the bill to accept the Soldiers' Home that this is simply a stab at the home bill and that it is intended to sidetrack the home issue by attempting to prove that those who oppose the acceptance do not manifest opposition to the pensioning of the old soldiers.

There was a good deal of talk over the bill yesterday. Mr. Sears says it is intended simply to give the people of Georgia a chance to speak out their sentiments at the ballot box as to whether they are in favor of the pensioning of these old soldiers or not. "It is claimed," said he, "that our constitution makes unjust discrimination as to our system of dealing out pensions and I propose to correct this evil."

An invitation has been delivered to the general assembly from Colonel W. L. Calhoun to visit the home today at 3 o'clock and the members will take the cars that will be waiting for them at that hour and spend the afternoon out there.

Fulton County's Commissioners.

Fulton County's Commissioners And, now with the senate's concurance and the governor's signature, Fulton county will have her county commissioners elected by the people at the pools instead of appointed by the grand jury.

A bill by Mr, Ed Martin to repeal the act allowing grand juries this right has already passed, and yesterday the house passed the other bill he introduced following up this act.

people and sets forth the time and place for holding the election.

The bill, in compliance with the demands of the people of Fulton, and the fulfillment of the issue and pledges of Fulton's representatives in their campaign provides for an immediate change. It stipulates that the first election shall be held on the first Wednesday of January, 1893, at which time the terms of two members of the commission expire. These vacancies to occur, it will be remembered, have already been filled, Messrs. Collier and Neal having been

it will be remembered, have already been filled, Messrs. Collier and Neal having been named by the last grand jury as the men for the place. But, this law will be in force before those vacancies occur and, hence, the provision is made for a popular election to fill them. Thus the grand jury appointments will not hold good.

The bill goes further and states that the next election shall be held in the fall of 1895. It provides that there shall be one member at least elected from the county and the ballot shall bear the words "For commissioner from the county."

Mr. Martin has fulfilled the demands of his constituents and is roundly praised for the speedy and energetic work he has done in securing the passage of the bill in the house.

It will pass the senate safely.

BANKERS BEFORE THE COMMITTEE.

They Talk on the General Banking Law Mr. Calvin Is Interviewed.

Mr. Calvin Is Interviewed.

A committee representing the bankers of the state appeared before the banking committee of the legislature yesterday and made arguments against the passage at this time of the general banking law proposed.

The state banking association was represented by O. B. Lane. of Savannah, L. P. Hillyer, oif Macon, secretary, and John B. Davis, of Albany. These gentlemen thought that the legislature should go slow in enacting new banking laws. They want to wait and see what congress will do. They stated as their opinion that the new administration will be conservative and they were afraid that they might get too far ahead of the national legislation if something is passed now.

Mr. Calvin's Ideas. "Yes," said Mr. Calvin, of Richmond last night, when approached on the sub-to do is to get Pearline. Peddlers and some unscrupture lous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, do the honest thing—send if back. 287. JAMES PYLE, N.V. ject, "the proposition to put on the statute books of Georgia an act which will put the state in position to operate a free banking system the moment the federal tax of 10 per cent is repealed, is attracting attention. Indeed, this afternoon, the house committee on banks had a visit from the executive committee of the State Bankers' Association, and a half-dozen of these able and excellent gentlemen discussed at length the purpose of the bill now pending in the house on the subject just referred to. These gentlemen said the bill was a step in the right direction, but each urged that the legislature should proceed cautionsly, and make the circulating notes secure. That is just exactly my idea.

"I have never thought for a moment of trying to 'railroad' the bill, which I introduced last Friday, through the general assembly. Not at all. The bill is not perfect in its provisions, but it is easy of amendment and can be made practically perfect. Since drafting and introducing the bill, I have thought of a number of amendments which I propose to offer to the committee.

"I wanted to get the question before the legislature and the people of the state in a formal way. I think I have succeeded. The committee on banks will request that the bill be read a second time tomorrow and be recommitted and that 500 copies be printed for the use of the house."

To Get Expressions.

To Get Exp. essions.

"Your hope is, therefore, that this will enable you to elicit expressions and amend-ments, from bankers and business men, that will help perfect the measure?" was "Yes; that is one of the objects had in view in ordering the bill printed—members and persons interested can read it and suggest remedies for the defects which will present themselves here and there. I have devoted considerable time to a study of the question, and I am still diligently pursuing it.

"I see no necessity at this time for delay-"I see no necessity at this time for delaying action on the measure till next summer or till congress shall act. We have lived to very little purpose, the quarter of a century past, if we cannot in a week or two perfect a banking act which will meet all the wants of the people and have it ready to go into effect within thirty or sixty days after the repeal of the 10 per cent tax. It can do no harm to have such an act on the statute books.

Not Premature.

Not Premature.

"Some one may suggest that such action would be premature. I do not think so. A few days ago I was in the state library studying the laws of the states and gathering material for the bill in question, when the Hon. Henry G. Turner, the distinguished congressman-elect from the eleventh district, walked in. A friend mentioned the work I was engaged in. Unless my memory is at fault, he said the idea was a good one; that if Georgia should enact a wise law on the subject—an act that would gnarantee absolutely the circulating notes and protect depositors (our general banking law does this),—such an act would wondrously aid the early repeal of the 10 per cent tax. I am glad to know that the State Bankers' Association has appointed what is known as a 'legislative committee.' These gentlemen, experienced in the business of banking, will render us valuable aid in perfecting the pending bill. In a multitude of counsel there is wisdom. I admit we must proceed cautiously, but it oft-times happens that men lose golden opportunities by being too cautious. The happy mean is the safer ground." ground."

Guerry's Portraits.

Professor Albert Guerry, the south's celebrated painter, is now doing some very handsome work. He has lately painted the portraits of General Duff Green, Hon. Pat Calhoun and Mr. Paul Romare. This work is greatly admired by critics. Since Mr. Guerry's return to Atlanta he seems to have improved wonderfully in brilliancy of effect and finish. These pictures, and for that matter, many samples of his work, may be seen in his studio in the Equitable building, eighth floor.

THE GUARD MEANT TO SHOOT

Chat with a Convict, but the Guard Did Not Know Who He Was.

Styles, the negro member from liberty, had a narrow escape from being shot while on the trip last week with the penitentiary committee, according to the statement of one of the representatives. It seems that Styles was walking slowly behind the committee for the purpose of getting a quiet chat with some of the convicts The rest of the party got ahead of him quite a distance. He stopped to chat with a prisoner. A guard who did not see him enter the mines with the other legislators thought that Styles was trying to have a secret conversation for the purpose of slipping him a weapon, or aiding him to escape.

The guard approached Styles and asked him his business. Styles told the guard to go off as he wanted to chat with the convict. The guard was not used to anything of that kind, and he ordered the representative to move on. Styles said that he was a member of the committee, and added that he meant what he said when he told the guard to step off out of hearing. The guard replied that he did not care whether Styles was a member of the legislature or not. "I am here to watch these prisoners; you can't get out of my sight," he said. More words followed and the guard raised his gun and ordered Styles to move on in a hurry. Styles saw that it was move on or get shot and he lost no time in getting away. He caught up with the rest of the committee and complained. The committee went back and found that Styles was at

The penitentiary authorities would not discuss it yesterday. They said that they were willing to abide by the report of the committee.

Rubber suits are furnished, and it is the fault of the convicts themselves, if they sleep in wet clothes, for they have dry suits to put on. In the Dade mines 400 of the 500 convicts get through their tasks by the middle of the afternoon. Some finish their work by midday and they can go to sleep if the wish, or can keep on working and get pay for their extra time. They are not paid cash until their terms expire, but they can draw anything they want from the commissary department. INAUGURATION

President Cleveland

The Inauguration of President Cleverand on the of March next will be in the history of America. It will be the beginning of a new era of prosperity this country has never seen, especially in the south and west.

Thousands of people from all parts of the United States will be there, as good democrat and lover of free government in the south, that can possibly should go. We know there are thousands of persons in Georgia alone that like to go, but do not feel able. But that need not keep any one from some have a plan that will enable every one that can lay aside $2 or $3 a week from the world of the south of the sou

The new men were put on beats in the rear. They were all supplied with uniforms. Several of the officers are old pollemen and have served long terms on the force. Patrolman Speir was on the ferce five years ago. He left the force then after a service of ten years.

The increase in the number of patrolmen is made necessary by the growth of the city. The inadequacy of the force as it was before the new men were added was apparent to all. A great deal of territory was left without police protection.

The police board hopes to make a still greater increase in the numerical strength of the force after April 1st.

Other changes to meet the increased size of the city are in contemplation to be put into operation after the department moves into its new home on Decatur street. Two substations are to be added. One is to be in Brooklyn; the other on Peters street. The board realizes the fact that Atlanta is too large for one station to be made to answer.

much as if they had never seen the piece before.

"Mr. Henshaw, the bright particular star, around whom the others play, was as great as ever, and the audience went wild over his songs and witticisms. Mr. Henshaw is an artist in every sense of the word, and is one of the most popular nctors on the stage today. Sixteen years ago he joined hands with May Ten Brocck, and since then they have appeared in their specialties in all the principal cities. Success has crowned their efforts, and their lucky star is now steadily climbing higher and higher in fortune's sky. They deserve it all.

higher and higher in fortune's sky. They deserve it all.

"Miss Ten Broeck has given herself but little opportunity for work in "The Nabobs," but she sings a little in her sweet way, dances as gracefully as ever, and wears several beautiful costumes. The public admire her as an actress; we wish that they knew her in private life, where the glare of the footlights is shut out, and she is seen only in that way where the woman and not the actress shines—generous, impulsive and noble, always ready with her tear of sympathy and an open hand for the unfortunate—an ornament to her sex and to the stage.

"For handsome John and bonnie May, Brooklyn will always have cordial greeting, as well as for the excellent members of their company."

A Safe Investment.

Save $20 a month for ten months, invest it with Nantahala Marble and Tale Company, get $200 non-assessible dividendpaying stock and deed to a town lot in the coming city of Nantahala. Your stock will pay good dividends; the lot you get with every two shares may soon be worth ten times the cost. This is not visionary. Scores of new towns which did not have half the merit or dividend-paying value that Nantahala has, give positive proof that many of the lots you get with every two shares will sell for $2.000 within a short time. Do not delay. The hesitating, halting, doubting ones never win fame or fortune in war or peace! Nantahala is a sure winner. Already away beyond the experimental stage. No bonds, no debts, no salaries; a large balance in the treasury; work going on; everything paid for invent or peace. A Safe Investment.

beyond the experimental stage. No bonds, no debts, no salaries; a large balance in the treasury; work going on; everything paid for in spot cash as we go; best and most successful bankers and business men in the south use the money you pay in, in erecting marble, talc and lumber mills, paper mills, furniture factories, car factories and building a city on your own property; while many of the wealthiest and most refined men and women from Macon, Savannah, Rome, Charleston, Augusta, Columbia, Atlanta, Cincinnati, Detroit, New York, etc., will in the near future erect elegant homes in that lovely region.

Have you reflected? If not, stop, think. No bank in the country has a better or safer board of directors; none of them have a more successful or careful list of stockholders. They are prudent, successful men and women. You cannot put your money in a place where it is safer or more certain to pay you good dividends, to say nothing of the lot you get with every two shares. Well. what about this? What will it amount to? Think of a few of the new towns you know about, if lots are today worth, and will sell for $10,000. perhaps $20,000, in Asheville, Salem, Winston, Roanoke and scores of others. What is it reasonable to expect of Nantahala? Think, decide, act. A 'small investment in Nantahala may make you and your loved ones comfortable in your old age. Call at the company's office, in the Gate City Bank building or Atlanta Real Estate Exchange, in the Kimball house, and see samples, maps, etc.

A FLYING TRIP.

Georgia's Legislators Will Do the Fair in a Day.

CHICAGO IS WAITING FOR THEM

Major Moses Handy Telegraphs That the Commissioners Will Be on the Lookout for the Visitors.

Governor Northen and the legislative com nittee will get away at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon for Chicago.

Colonel B. W. Wrenn, general pass agent for the East Tennessee was busy yesterday arranging the details for the trip. He is going along and has secured two sleeping cars for the party which will umber about thirty-five or forty.

Speaker Atkinson named twenty from the house and President Clay will probably name ten from the senate this morning. Foreseeing that this will be a delightful trip there are nearly 219 members of the assembly who are willing to take it As the invitation extended by the East Tennessee, specified from fifteen to twenty-five, thirty is about as many as can well be appointed. Then there will be from five to ten newspaper correspondents and they will be genuine representatives of their papers for Colonel Wrenn has explained that it is a business trip and that no sub stitutes need apply this time.

The schedule will put the party in Chattanooga tomorrow night, Cincinnati Thurs-day morning and after a daylight ride through Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, over the Monon road, Chicago will be reached in time for supper. That the visitors from Georgia will be taken care of goes without further saying when it is mentioned that Colonel Wrenn received a telegram yesterday from Ma-jor Moses P. Handy, head of the world's fair literary bureau, saying that he would notify all concerned of the delegation's coming and do all he can for the party. Major Handy is a veteran newspaper man. He will map out the programme for the Georgians. Friday will be spent in the world's fair grounds of which comprise 700 acres. Nearly one-fourth of this is under roof. Over 150 acres are covered with roof. One building, that of manufactures and liberal arts, covers thirty-five acres and cost $1, 100,000. Machinery hall, costing $1,200,-000, covers sixteen acres. In one day it will be only a bird's eye view but that will be enough to impress the visitors with the magnitude of the exposition.

The mere preparations for the trip have awakened a new interest in the fair here in Georgia and the visit itself will bring the question right home to the people of the state. Colonel Wrenn remarked yesterday that he attributes the apathy in Georgia largely to the failure of the people to grasp the immensity of the fair, and failure to realize that if she neglects to be represented there, she will be set down as an unenterprising state, When the fair was dedicated last month, a delegation was present from every state except Georgia. Carriages were furnished for Georgia's delegation but none appeared and a part of the Ohio delegation tore the placards off the carriages and rode away in them. As previously explained, Colonel Wrenn's idea in getting up this trip is to show a prominent committee from the general assembly what the exposition is going to be, so that a general interest may be stirred up all over the state. The lumbermen, the marblemen and the railroads are anxious to get up exhibits which will properly illustrate the state. But Georgia has such a wide range of natural resources that her display should be as elaborate as any there. Georgia's marble, timber, sea-island cotton, naval stores and general agricultural exhibits can be made the finest at the exposition and Georgia's fruit and vegitable products creditably illustrated at the fair, would attract the attention of the people of the northwest quicker than any-

Colonel Wrenn says that if the Georgia delegation after seeing the fair, is not unanimously alive to the importance of having the state represented there, he will surren

tine Shoes at Cost! EISEMAN BROS

My entire Shoe stock will be closed out between now and January 1st at once. On January 1st I will make a stock company of my house for the purpose of enlarging my capital and still further increasing my mammoth Shoe business. I have only been in business a few months and every pair of Shoes is fresh and new and from the best factories in America. My stock of Children, Misses and Boys' heel and spring heel Shoes has no equal in the world and you can save big money on them. My stock of Ladies' fine and medium price goods was never so full and complete. They also go in this sale. In Men's Shoes we have no competition. Everytihng except my famous $3 Shoes go at cost. This is a great loss to me, but my associates want the stock reduced as low as possible by January 1st. Hence, the great sacrifice. Never in Atlanta have fine, first-class Shoes been sold as cheap as I will sell them.
